

Exercises

Reading (Page no. 86)

A. Answer these questions.

1. The speaker feels there is only one of him, but thousands of grains of sand and stars in the sky.
2. The speaker says there are thousands and thousands of things because _____
 - a. There are so many that they cannot be counted
 - b. They can be counted and easily collected.

Ans. There are so many that they cannot be counted.

3. “But isn’t it strange.....”

What is the speaker calling ‘strange’ and what is he comparing it to?

Ans. The speaker is calling strange that how can he be only one. And he is comparing himself to other things which are in thousands.